Public Justification in World Politics

Workshop at the LISD, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs,
Princeton University, 22-23 March 2014

Saturday, 22 March

14:00-14:30 Welcome and Introduction

14:30-16:00 Session 1: Philosophy of Public Justification

- The Implications of the Private-Public Fusion for Public Philosophy
  AMITAI ETZIONI, George Washington University (etzioni@gwu.edu)

- Public Political Thought
  URIEL ABULOF, Princeton University (uabulof@princeton.edu)

16:00-16:30 Coffee Break

16:30-18:00 Session 2: Reasoning

- Moral and Social Reasoning: Coordination, Decision-making, Social Inequalities, and Moral Resistance
  ELLIOT TURIEL, University of California, Berkeley (turiel@berkeley.edu)

- Between Public Justification and Political Understanding: Exploring Reason-Giving, Interpretation and Interpellation in an International Context
  DEVA WOODLY, The New School (woodlyd@newschool.edu)

19:00 Dinner at Nassau Club (6 Mercer St)
Sunday, 23 March

8:30-9:15 Breakfast

9:15-10:45 Session 3: Winning over Audiences

- Framing ‘Just War’: How Leaders Generate Public Support for Intervention
  Markus Kornprobst, Vienna School of International Studies (markus.kornprobst@da-vienna.ac.at)
- Foreign Policy and the Politics of Story-telling: The Intertwining of Narrative and National Security
  Ron Krebs, University of Minnesota (rkrebs@umn.edu)

10:45-11:15 Coffee Break

11:15-12:45 Session 4: Making Global Institutions

- Legitimating Discourses of International Organizations: Speakers and Audiences
  Achim Hurrelmann, Carleton University (achim.hurrelmann@carleton.ca)
- Orders of Worth in Global Institutions
  Tine Hanrieder, Ludwig-Maximilians University of Munich (tine.hanrieder@gsi.uni-muenchen.de)

12.45-13.15 Concluding Discussion / Light Lunch